

Visit of a chinese team at Famous

In 2014 a new factory for air refrigeration systems was built by Famous in the development zone for economy and engineering of Yantai in province Shandong, China. The goal is to assemble those systems close to the clients. This brings the advantages for our Chinese clients of shorter delivery times, more efficient service and cheaper prices. In November 2015 Famous Industrial Group sent a 5-person strong team from China under the lead of Mister Jincang Liu, chief engineer of Famous' factory, to Germany for technical training.

In order to have a efficient training the team had prepared already questions beforehand on all different processes of assembly. Those questions were answered and discussed in the first three days. Afterwards it was time for the practical part of the training. In which 2 air refrigeration systems were assembled at the German manufacturer. At the end of each day there was time for reflection and the learned was summarized. The acquired knowledge was later told the rest of the employees at the factory in China.

On the 7th of December Mister Wei Luan, CEO of the Famous Group invited everyone to Famous in Germany. After greeting words of Mister Luan and Mister Liu the current state of things was discussed. Mister Luan expressed his hopes that the knowledge acquired was not only of technical nature but furthermore for the Chinese to get a taste of the German consciousness towards work. Finally mister Luan invited everyone to dinner.

Several days before Christmas, the training was concluded. The team thanked for the professional training and the trust which was bestowed on them and they hope to bring success to the factory in China.
